Motorcycling for charity

Sweeping through curves over mountains and through farmlands, there are not many experiences like riding a motorcycle through Vermont. Well it could be compared to many things actually. Skiing, camping, hang-gliding, and sitting by a lake, river, or pond all come to mind. How can these all be connected through riding a motorcycle?

Manchester musician Kelly Moore, President of Music For Mankind®, Inc. started riding in 2008 and has already put over 23,000 miles under his wheels.

"As I ride through Vermont", says Kelly, "I find myself experiencing all of these: the sights, smells, sounds, and feelings...well, honestly, I've never tried hang-gliding, but it's incredible how I feel at times as though I am hang-gliding!"

The experiences he talks about are close to home for many of us: the smell of the wetness of a river tumbling over rocks by the road; the serenity of a calm, moonlit lake with the chirping of frogs and the breeze tugging at the waves; or the feeling of sliding down a ski slope, twisting and turning through the trees and bumps. These and many more, he states with enthusiasm, are more than matched on two wheels at 50+ MPH. In 2007 Kelly created Music For Mankind®, a 501 (c)(3) nonprofit public charity organization, contributing the proceeds of his concerts to the United Nations World Food Program and other humanitarian organizations for hunger and disaster relief, both locally and globally.

Music For Mankind® – Ride For The Hungry™ is an exciting and new opportunity in the form of guided motorcycle tours of Vermont. The proceeds of the tours contribute to help those who struggle every day just to survive.

Tours down the scenic back roads of Southern Vermont will fit your schedule and locale. Proceeds are contributed to World Food Program USA, Feeding America, local food cupboards, and other humanitarian organizations which are helping around the world. Enjoy the beauty of Vermont from the saddle of your motorcycle knowing that you are helping others too. To book tours contact Kelly at 802-362-3806 or kelly@musicformankind.net.
